

I've been a teacher in Seminole County since 2007, primarily teaching middle schoolers with mild to moderate learning disabilities. I've taught a wide variety of grades, but there's something very special about middle schoolers! This is a major transitional time for them, and they need more support from us than ever. I get real joy from checking in on how they're doing, offering whatever help I can, and seeing them gain confidence. It's incredibly rewarding!

I'm a native New Yorker, I graduated from LIU Southampton with bachelor's degrees in English Literature and Psychology, and after my first day of substitute teaching, I knew this was something I wanted to pursue. I'm certified to teach English grades 6-12, Integrated Curriculum Grades 5-9, ESE grades K-12, and ESOL grades K-12.

I enjoy cooking and eating great food, traveling, coffee and conversation, being in nature, dancing, yoga, and spending time with my favorite people.
